Elizabeth was super nice and nonjudgmental about my writing. She helped me to clarify a few points in my essay and to keep my thesis as clear and as accurate as possible.	I appreciated her tips on flow and using transition words more effectively!	I wouldn't have minded a bit more guidance in terms of how to best use our time together.
clarified where things could be made more concise, where my writing was too formal	very encouraging and took her time reading before giving feedback
She read it over, asked if I had questions, and walked me through parts of concern that really helped me.	She took the time to actually help me with what I wanted to be helped with and did not force her writing style on me. She let me write the way that I do and did a great job of helping me elaborate on my ideas
She helped me talk through my assignment and figure out what point exactly I was trying to get across	That it gave me time to brainstorm and talk about ideas that I was confused about

The tutor helped me understand the possible weaknesses in my paper such as lack of fluidity and not coherence in terms of message. She also helped me think about ways in which I could make it more coherent and better structured.	Her enthusiasm! She was so passionate about my piece and brought so much energy into our conversation. I felt so excited after meeting with her because not only did I feel validated as a writer, but felt that what I was writing about was important. It also just makes everything better when someone brings so much encouragement and positivity into an event that is supposed to be more critical and constructive. It still was super constructive but her energy made it feel much more like a reward to have to revise as opposed to a failure or obligation.	Absolutely amazing!!!! I feel rejuvenated meeting with her and so much more excited about writing. As a freshman, I have often felt distant from the Stanford community because of being all online. Meeting with Professor Mortenson made me not only feel like a part of the Stanford community but excited to be apart of a community that has such amazing, passionate people.
She really helped me by listening to my struggles and helped me to stay motivated and on top of my goal for the session.	I most appreciated her willingness to help me out!

She provided a lot of useful comments and answered all of my questions really well!	She was very relaxed, able to understand and respond to my questions in a really helpful manner, and overall did an amazing job at supporting my writing!	She did a great job!
Yes	Elizabeth has great energy/ fun to talk to, especially when it is already in the evening
She helped to check that I was doing what I was worried I was not and brought up additional suggestions I had not considered to strengthen my assignment.	She is always super passionate and energetic. It just makes the revision process a lot more rewarding and desirable. I literally looked forward to seeing when she had time because I love working with her so much. She not only gives awesome feedback but just makes me feel passionate about writing.	Awesome as always! My favorite tutor at Hume. The passion, energy, and excellent feedback are unmatched.

Elizabeth helped me outline my TiC assignment for my PWR class. She was a great help, she helped me find areas of interest that I could fit into my essay and plan out my writing as well as possible. I told her that I mainly struggled with brainstorming and direction, so when she asked me to list the things about my current subject that I'm interested in, she noticed patterns and commonalities in my ideas and helped me narrow my focus. I think her help gave me a solid plan to take with me into the writing process! I'm super grateful for all that she was able to help me with! I am on a bit of a time crunch so I definitely think she saved me hours of brainstorming time. I can now research with more peace of mind and finally work hard in a direction instead of writing aimlessly!	Elizabeth was very honest with me and genuine in answer my questions. She was incredibly respectful and easy to talk to, but I think I most enjoyed how much she respected my ideas and concerns. I never felt that I asked a dumb question or brought up an irrelevant point or concern, and whenever I brought something up she gave me concrete feedback that I took note of to keep in mind as I write. She also gave her insight several times throughout the session instead of just having me come up with the ideas by responding to her questions, which helped me gain another perspective and get a better idea of how my research question and writing ideas are perceived by others. I think she knows how to be helpful, and I appreciate her authenticity and her feedback so much because she is incredibly respectful in addressing my questions and always pointed me in the right direction!	I think you were amazing honestly, and if I ever need help brainstorming in the future I'm going to be looking for you! I don't know how I would've been able to think of all of this given the time crunch, and the techniques you taught me to brainstorm on my own are definitely going to be put to use! Thanks so much for all your help! Your feedback, ideas, and input was so helpful and I don't know how to thank you enough for it!

She helped me brainstorm potential research questions for the RBA and helped me figure out which direction I'll go.	I thought it was a lot of fun! I appreciated how my tutor compared and contrasted different ideas, and helped rule out ones that were less effective and relevant. I also enjoyed how she threw out ideas and reflected on my own to see which ones would work the best in an RBA.
Elizabeth offered clear feedback on the things that worked, and the things that could be improved.	Elizabeth was welcoming, kind, and reassuring. She was able to use her expertise in journalistic writing to give me tangible tips on what works within that industry.	Thanks, Elizabeth! You offered a helpful critique of my writing that was both encouraging and reassuring at the same time. I look forward to getting your help with future articles as well!

She helped me think about the organization of my paper and the ways in which I can improve my writing by having a more fluid paper.	She is always so positive and encouraging. I always feel a lot more confident after meeting with her and feel more motivated to really make my paper the best it can be.	Dr. Mortenson is actually one of Stanford's best instructors. She is so intelligent, compassionate, enthusiastic, and helpful. I am so glad I have found her through Hume!
